Possum was a clever and curious possum. She loved to explore the forest, climb trees, and play with her friends. Princessa, on the other hand, was a gentle and compassionate princess. She loved to read books, play the harp, and help those in need.

One day, as Possum was exploring the forest, she heard a cry for help. She followed the sound and found Princessa trapped in a thorn bush. Possum quickly used her sharp claws to cut the thorns and free the princess.

"Thank you so much for saving me, Possum," said Princessa. "I would have been stuck in that bush forever if it weren't for you."

"You're welcome, Princessa," said Possum. "It was no trouble at all."

Princessa and Possum quickly became friends. They spent their days playing together in the forest, sharing stories, and helping each other out.

One day, the kingdom was in danger. A wicked witch had cast a spell on the king and queen, turning them into stone. The princess was the only one who could break the spell, but she was too afraid to face the witch.

"Don't worry, Princessa," said Possum. "I'll go with you and help you break the spell."

Princessa and Possum set off on their journey to the witch's castle. Along the way, they faced many challenges. They had to cross a raging river, climb a slippery mountain, and fight off a pack of wolves.

But Possum and Princessa never gave up. They worked together and overcame every obstacle in their path.

Finally, they reached the witch's castle. Possum distracted the witch while Princessa snuck into the castle and found the antidote to the spell.

Princessa gave the antidote to the king and queen, and they were instantly turned back into their human forms.

The kingdom was saved, and Possum and Princessa were hailed as heroes.

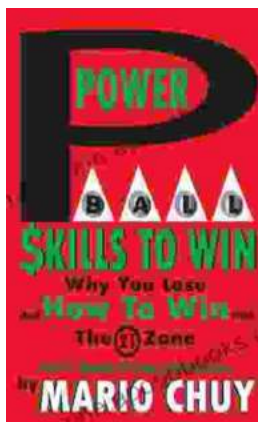

From that day on, Possum and Princessa remained the best of friends. They continued to have adventures together, helping those in need and making the world a better place.
