The Anglo concertina is a relatively new instrument, having been invented in the early 19th century. However, it quickly became popular, and it was soon being used to play a wide variety of music, including traditional folk tunes, popular songs, and even classical music.

The tunes in this book are a representative sample of the music that was played on the Anglo concertina in the 19th and early 20th centuries. They include jigs, reels, hornpipes, waltzes, polkas, and marches. Many of the tunes are well-known folk songs, such as "The Irish Washerwoman" and "The Star of the County Down." Others are more obscure, but they are all equally charming and enjoyable to play.

This book is a valuable resource for anyone who is interested in the Anglo concertina or in traditional folk music. The tunes are arranged in a clear and easy-to-read format, and they are suitable for players of all levels. Whether you are a beginner or an experienced player, you will find something to enjoy in this book.

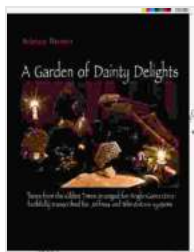

Here are a few of the tunes that are included in the book:

- The Irish Washerwoman
- The Star of the County Down
- The Black Velvet Band
- The Sally Gardens
- The Foggy Dew
- The Wild Rover
- The Rose of Tralee
- The Banks of the Ohio
- The Red River Valley
- The Yellow Rose of Texas
